Let's Turn 2

The 6th Annual Derek Jeter Celebrity Golf Classic was held at the Saddlebrook Resort in Tampa, Florida and the support was in full effect. Jeter's pals; Michael Jordan, Tino Martinez, Darryl Strawberry, Richie Sexson, John Starks, Charles Oakley, Donovan McNabb, Don Zimmer, Buck Showalter and One Last Time author Ray Negrón were there to support the cause.

Kinray Stars at Jeter Classic

With plenty of "A" list stars, everybody was talking about Kinray Inc. CEO Stewart Rahr, who made a winning bid of $75,000 to land the legendary Michael Jordan. Jordan joined up with Rahr's team for the next day's golf outing. Author Ray Negrón's sister Angela Valdez is an employee of Rahr's at his pharmaceutical plant. Rahr is becoming legendary in his support of charities throughout the country.

Me and My Pal

The Batboy Helps team found its way into Carrollwood Elementary school as author Ray Negrón and the Yankees mascot spread the word of believing in you to over 300 students.

The mascot was a hit with the kids as Negrón awarded them with caps, rings, baseball cards and love. It was the mascot's first appearance with Ray and definitely will not be its last.

Ladies and Gentleman, The President!

Yankees President Randy Levine represented his team at City Hall in their quest to get the last series of bonds needed to complete the new Yankee Stadium. Lucky Rivera along with his organization Positive Workforce, author and advisor Ray Negrón along with a group from the Bronx community were also there to show their support.

Hail Cesar!!!

Yankees scout Cesar Presbott was awarded the 2009 Hot Stove League Scout of the Year Award. Presbott proudly accepted the award and used a phrase made famous by the legendary Joe Dimaggio, "I want to thank the good Lord for making me a Yankee." The ceremonies were held at Leonard's of Great Neck, LI. Attendee Ray Negrón left his home in sunny Florida to support Presbott's day.

Back to School

Author, Ray Negrón attended Carrollwood Day School's author Conference.

Negrón stressed the importance of believing in you.

He took Q&A's from a large student body that gathered in the auditorium.
